

Week 13 Assignments

Week 13 Reading Questions

Please review these questions as a guide for each reading. They are already posted.

Week 13 Journal

This week, I'd like you to post a Journal that does two things: 1) responds to the readings, specifically how they develop and continue the themes of previous weeks and 2) updates me on how you are feeling about the course, how things are going, and any thoughts on where we are headed. Your journal can be informal, but try to write me more than a few sentences.

Your Journals are due by next Monday (4/18) at midnight.

Week 13 Quiz

We will have another quiz this week (though probably not as difficult as the last quiz, since we have stories). I will have it posted by Wednesday or Thursday, once again, and will send a reminder. You will have until Monday (4/18) at midnight to complete the quiz.

Paper 2 Topics

Note once again that, after you finish The Book of Daniel, it would be a good time to get going on your second paper. Note that a proposal is due in a few weeks, so don't wait too long to begin.

Week 13 Lecture

Instead of a lecture this week, I'll respond to your Journals as part of next week's lecture, which will encompass the readings from both weeks.
