

A close-up photograph of a light-colored, textured concrete block. A significant portion of the block is missing, creating a dark, irregular hole. A person's hand is visible in the lower-left foreground, with the index finger pointing towards the hole. A red arrow originates from a text box in the upper right and points to the hole. The text box contains the text "Block partly missing exposing column".

Block partly missing exposing column

2023/11/01 14:23:23